1 JAMES YATES according to the History of Bristol and Bremen, Maine, was an Englishman from Yorkshire, but Mr. Wm. Prescott Greenlaw, Librarian and Ass't Treasurer of the New England Historic Genealogical Society of Boston, Mass., who is a descendant, states that he has "good reason to believe that he was the son of James of Rhode Island, who was son of the first John of Rhode Island, but I cannot prove it." Neither can the compiler of these notes prove it. James Yates whose name in Bristol, during his life was spelled "Yeats," married Jane McNear and they died in that part of Bristol which was Bremen, Me., he on April 7, 1793, aged 93 years and she on Dec. 31, 1802, aged 85 years. They were the parents of nine children, namely: Elizabeth, in 1739; Sarah, 1741; Jane, 1743; George James, 1748; Mary, 1750; Margaret, 1752; Samuel, 1755; Rachel, 1756 and Lydia, 1759. Their home was on the north side of Round Pond and in times of great danger the family was accustomed to flee by boat to New Harbor and walk across to the fort. At one time the mother with four small children the oldest only ten years of age, made the passage unaided, in the absence of her husband.

In the summer of 1744, the English suffered in their commercial and fishing interests by vessels of war and privateers fitted out by the French at Louisbourg and it was decided to prepare for a struggle. Two men went from Pemaquid, one of them James Yates and he was absent three years. While Louisbourg was shortly captured, Gov. Shirley persuaded most of the men to stay to defend it and hence the long absence from home. James Yates, calling himself, yeoman, of Bristol, County Lincoln, Me., made his will Aug. 3, 1789, which was proven Dec. 10, 1795. After a long religious preamble he stated that he had divided the most of his property among his children, many years ago and after leaving his nine children six shillings each and naming them as Elizabeth Rhoads, Sarah Hilton, Jean Poor, George Yeats, Mary Briant, Maragret Nash, Samuel Yeats, Rachal Fuller and "Liddia" Macker, he gave his wife Jean, the remainder of his real and personal estate. He made Samuel Yeats and Oliver Nash his executors.

2 GEORGE JAMES YATES, son of James and Jane (McNear) Yates, was born in the town of Bristol, Me., April 23, 1748 and died there Jan. 16, 1821. He married in Marshfield, Mass., Nov. 26, 1772, Nancy Richards, born March 16, 1752, died Dec. 12, 1843. Their children as recorded in the vital records of Bristol and Bremen are as follows: Jane, born, Nov. 1, 1773; George J., Nov. 5, 1774; Nancy, April 10, 1776; James, May 20, 1778; William, July 17, 1780; George W., April 22, 1782; Sally, Feb. 22, 1785; Samuel, Aug. 4, 1788; Betsy, Nov. 29, 1791 and Lydia, May 5, 1794.

That George James Yates fought in the Revolutionary War is shown in the following document, which may be found in The Genealogical Advertiser, Vol. 4, p. 155.

"Pay Roll of Detachment from Col. William Jones, Reg't of Militia under Capt. Benj. Plumer in expedition against Maja Bogaduce (?) from July 6, to Sept. 24, 1779, for their Continental pay in Col. Samuel McCobb's Regt.—George Yates, Lieutenant." Page 156, states: "This muster roll appears on pp. 98 and 115 in Vol. 37 of Revolutionary Rolls in Mass. Archives, Company chiefly from Bristol, Bremen and Boothbay Harbor, Me." Also the following shows service, taken from the Maine Historical Society's Collection, 2nd Series, Vol. 17, p. 324: Petition from Bristol, Me., June 21, 1780, "We the Selectmen and Militia Officers of Bristol, expect loyalty to the 13 U. S. of America but are in want of ammunition to defend ourselves," signed by "Henry Hunter and Henry Fassit, Selectmen" and "Col. Wm. Jones and George James Yeats" who must have been the Militia Officers.

3 JAMES YATES, son of George James and Nancy (Richards) Yates was born March 20, 1778, according to one record but another states May 20, 1778, and died Nov. 9, 1830. He married Dec. 19, 1805, Sally Dockendorf, born March 13, 1767, died Oct. 29, 1840.

4 SOLOMON D. YATES, son of James and Sally (Dockendorf) Yates was born in 1808 and died in 1888. His marriage intentions recorded Oct. 3, 1835 to Margaret Orne are on the Bristol records, but not their date of marriage. She was born in 1815 and died in 1891, daughter of Stephen and Lydia (Grover) Horn (Orne).

Their grave stones may be seen in the Oak Hill Cemetery, in the village of Round Pond, Bristol, Maine.

5 JAMES WILSON YATES, son of Solomon D. and Margaret (Orne) Yates was born March 27, 1841, in Maine and died in Brooklyn, N. Y., July 18, 1899. He married in Patchogue, L. I., May 3, 1865, Nancy Davis Terry, born Dec. 6, 1841, died in Brooklyn, N. Y., July 9, 1914, daughter of Brewster and Urania (Davis) Terry.

6 IRENE YATES, daughter of James Wilson and Nancy D. (Terry) Yates was born July 2, 1868, in Patchogue, L. I., and married Dec. 23, 1896, Jacob H., son of Jacob and Cordelia (Hunt) Shaffer. They reside in Brooklyn, N. Y.

1 RICHARD TERRY was born in England, Aug. 17, 1618, and died in Southold, L. I., in May, 1676. The Long Island Traveler of Dec. 23, 1898 claims that he had a certificate from the minister at New Haven, Ct., which he brought to Southold with him in 1640. He married Abigail whose ancestry has not been found but as they were married about 1649 and as she consented to his selling certain property called "one first lot at Occabuck" it is quite certain that she was a daughter of one of the early settlers of Southold; as she signed no other deeds, shows that she had a personal interest in the above property.

He was made recorder and Clerk of the Court in Southold, Oct. 3, 1664, and held those offices until he left the village in 1672/3 and settled upon his "Quasha Neck farm at Corchaug." As Recorder he took pains to spread upon the minutes the births of his children, naming his oldest daughter Abigail and his oldest son "Gearshom," the others named Nathaniel, Sara, Richard, John, Samuel, Elizabeth, Mary and Bethia.

After his death, his wife lived upon the farm with her son John. In 1882 their ground on the Town Street was partly occupied by Moses Cleveland, Charles S. Williams and George B. Simons.

Richard Terry's will, without date, was confirmed at Southold, May 13, 1676, in which he left most of his property to his wife, she to bring up the children "for the good of their Souls and Bodys" until the sons were twenty-one and the daughters, eighteen. He made her executrix and his son Gershom, executor, leaving the latter, "one half of my wood land at Catchache" and giving his sons Nathaniel and Richard his home at "Squash Neck" when Richard was twenty-one and his son John, his house "in town" after Abigail's decease. The date of her death is not known.

2 GERSHOM TERRY, son of Richard and Abigail Terry was born in Southold, L. I., Nov. 7, 1652 and died at "Corchaug," L. I., March 14, 1724/5. He married Deborah, born 1662, died Oct. 21, 1729 at "Cutchogue," daughter of William and Mary Wells. In 1882 his farm was still partly occupied by his descendants, Constant B. Terry and his sister Elizabeth, wife of Alfred Smith.

3 GERSHOM TERRY, son of Gershom and Deborah (Wells) Terry, died Feb. 27, 1724, aged 40 years, 5 months and 27 days, and is buried in the Presbyterian Cemetery at Mattituck, L. I. He married Mary whose maiden name is not known. He made his will in Southold, Feb. 25, 1724/5 which was proven Nov. 26, 1726. He left most of his property to his wife as long "as she shall remain my widow and no longer" and mentions his children as Gershom, David and Mary. The date of death of his wife has not been found but she was living in 1742. It has been suggested that her maiden name was "Case" but a search of the valuable Case manuscript at Hartford did not reveal any connection during this period with the Terry family.

4 GERSHOM TERRY, son of Gershom and Mary Terry died in Coram, L. I., during April 1777, 67 years of age. He married in Mattituck, L. I., Nov. 1, 1733, Mary, daughter of Joshua Wells. She died before 1749, for during that year he married Bethia Wells, who died at Cutchogue, Nov. 11, 1799 in her 72nd year. He signed the Association in Brookhaven, L. I., during the Revolutionary period, in May 1775 (Refugees of 1776 from L. I. to Conn. p. 1058) also in June, July and August, 1775 (p. 1059).

5 TIMOTHY BREWSTER TERRY, called Brewster, son of Gershom and Mary (Wells) Terry was born near Mattituck, L. I., Jan. 29, 1735, and died in Coram, L. I., Aug. 23, 1795. He married Elizabeth, born Jan. 6, 1748, died 1834, daughter of Elijah and Mary Davis. Their children were: Mary, born Aug. 1, 1765; Daniel, Aug. 11, 1767; Brewster, March 29, 1770; Charlotte, March 5, 1772; Joshua, May 28, 1775; David, April 3, 1777; John, Aug. 22, 1780; Elizabeth, Feb. 26, 1782; Nancy, June 11, 1784; Elijah, Feb. 14, 1787; John 2nd, Oct. 16, 1790; Frances, Sept. 7, 1794. Brewster Terry signed the Association in Brookhaven, L. I., for service in the Revolutionary War in May 1775 (Refugees of 1776 from L. I. to Conn., p. 1057).

6 BREWSTER TERRY, son of Timothy Brewster and Elizabeth (Davis) Terry was born at Coram, L. I., March 29, 1770, and died Feb. 1, 1841 at Patchogue, L. I.. He married in Feb. 1807, Hannah, who died July 22, 1858, daughter of Caleb Mapes Hulse. He made his will Nov. 24, 1840, which was proven Aug. 31, 1841, in which he states he is of Brookhaven and to his wife Hannah, bequeaths land known as the "Hawkins right" and shows it was located on the shore. He mentions his children as Rhoda Swezey, not married; Eliza Ann; Charlotte Marilla; Ophelia Hatfield and Brewster. He made his wife and only son his executors with Caleb H. Hammond. When the will was proven, his daughters Charlotte M. was the wife of Gelston Gillett and Eliza Ann of Nathaniel P. Overton. This will is filed in Riverhead, Liber, H. p. 392. His wife was the widow of Elisha Hammond when he married her.

7 BREWSTER TERRY, son of Brewster and Hannah (Hulse) Terry was born at Coram, L. I., Jan. 5, 1808, and died at Patchogue, L. I. in 1895, where he is buried. He married Dec. 15, 1834, Urania, born Dec. 14, 1813, daughter of Briant and Patty (Browne) Davis.

His children were Martha Ann, born Nov. 20, 1835; Mary Eliza, Aug. 14, 1837, died Sept. 19, 1918; Nancy Davis, Dec. 6, 1840, died July 9, 1914; Bryant, Dec. 4, 1842; Sarah Augusta, March 9, 1845.

8 NANCY DAVIS TERRY, daughter of Brewster and Urania (Davis) Terry was born Dec. 6, 1841, and died in Brooklyn, N. Y., July 9, 1914, as the widow of James Wilson Yates, whom she married in Patchogue, L. I., May 3, 1865. They are both buried in the latter place.

1 JOHN ALDEN while a passenger on the Mayflower in 1620 was not of the Leyden congregation for Bradford states that "John Alden was hired for a cooper at South Hampton where the shop victualled; and being a hopeful young man was much desired but left to his own liking to go or stay when he came here; but he stayed and married here."

Notwithstanding the prominence he attained, in his deeds of sale or gift he almost invariably describes himself as a cooper, occasionally as yeoman and only once as a gentleman. His education was above the average and tradition tells us that he was the tallest man in the community and of a fine Saxon type. He was the youngest signer of the Mayflower Compact.

John Alden was born in 1599, and died Sept. 12, 1687, the last male survivor of those who signed the Compact. Davis, in his Landmarks of Plymouth states that the earliest records indicate that all the land at Plymouth between Burial Hill and Main Street once belonged to John Alden and William Bradford.

The land that John Alden owned there covered the site of the old school house and it is quite probable that he lived there before his removal to Duxbury in 1627. His home in the latter place was accidentally destroyed by fire, but as late as 1897 the old cellar could be seen.

When he removed to Duxbury he settled on the land which had been granted to him on the South side of Blue Fish River. He built his house on a rise of land near Eagle Tree Pond and the site is identified to the eastward of the present building near the dyke and here was his well. His second house stood a little further west and the present house built by his grandson, Col. John Alden, stands still further to the west. The original grant contained one hundred and nine acres.

In 1633 he was chosen a member of the Board of Assistants to the Governor and continued with few interruptions until his death. From 1640 to 1650 he served as Deputy from Duxbury. From 1666 to 1687 he was first on the Board of Assistants and was styled Deputy Governor and on him devolved the duty of presiding in the absence of the Governor on which occasions, according to the records, he ruled with dignity and perseverance. Holding offices of the highest trust no important measure was proposed or any responsible agency ordered, in which he had not a part. He was often one of the Council of War, many times an arbitrator, a surveyor of lands for the government and on several important occasions was authorized to act as Agent or Attorney for the Colony. He was chosen Treasurer of the Colony in 1656 and held the office for three successive years.

He divided his estate between his children before he died and spent his last days with his son Jonathan.

He married in the early part of the Spring of 1622, Priscilla, daughter of William Mullines, both of whom were his fellow passengers on the Mayflower. This marriage has been immortalized by the poet Longfellow.

2 ELIZABETH ALDEN, daughter of John and Priscilla (Mullines) Alden was born in Plymouth, Mass., 1622 or 1623, "the first white woman born in New England." This has been questioned but the Division of Cattle List sustains it and close investigation proves the statement.

She died in Little Compton, L. I., May 31, 1717, in her 94th year. She married in Duxbury, Mass., Dec. 26, 1644, William Pabodie who died Dec. 13, 1707. In 1898 their home and their gravestones in Little Compton were in a good state of preservation.

See Pabodie.

2 SARAH ALDEN, daughter of John and Priscilla (Mullines) Alden was born in Plymouth, Mass., 1629 and died before her father. She married Alexander, son of Capt. Myles Standish.

See Standish.

1 RICHARD BALDWIN made his will Jan. 16, 1552/3 in which he expressed a desire to be buried in the church in the Parish of Aston Clinton, County Bucks. To his son Henry he bequeathed the rents of certain property "towards bringing up his children," and ten silver spoons. He made his wife Ellen and son Henry executors and the will was proven Feb. 21, 1552/3. The will of Ellen, made in 1565/6, has been partially destroyed, but from it, it is quite evident she was a sister of John Apuke, the name later being "Pooke."

2 HENRY BALDWIN, son of Richard and Ellen (Apuke) Baldwin was the owner of property left by his father at Dundridge, Parish of Aston Clinton, County Bucks, England, and made his will there, Jan. 2, 1600, which was proven at London, July 2, 1602, in which he mentions his wife Alice and among other children his son Robert. He married Alice King who made her will June 4, 1622, which was proven Dec. 14, 1626, in which among her other children is mentioned her son Robert and his daughter Anne. Henry Baldwin and wife are buried near his father.

3 ROBERT BALDWIN, son of Henry and Alice (King) Baldwin was bequeathed lands and tenements in Flanden, Hempstead and elsewhere in Hertfordshire. His will as of North Church in that county is dated March 22, 1605/6 and was proven April 1st following. He requests burial in the church yard at North Church. He must have died a young man as he left only one child, Anne. He married Joane whose maiden name is not known.

4 ANNE BALDWIN, daughter of Robert and Joane Baldwin, in 1633 was Anne Bryan (Bryant) with son Richard. In 1632/3 she is named in the will of her uncle, Richard, with her son, Richard "Bryant" and received with him land and tenements in Wendover Town, England. She married Alexander Bryan or Bryant and with him came to New England, settling in Milford, Ct., where she died Feb. 20, 1661.

1 NATHANIEL BREWSTER was one of the earliest graduates of Harvard College. He was born about 1620 and graduated in 1642 after which the first authentic note found concerning him is in the New Haven, Ct. records, when Thomas Pell, on Oct. 6, 1649, who was a chirurgeon, made him his attorney and stated that Nathaniel was then residing in Walderswick, County Suffolk, Eng. He went to England probably after his father's death (providing Francis Brewster who died in 1646, was his father, See Note.) and began a twenty years Ministry in England. Early in 1651 a church was formed at Alby, Norfolk, with which he was connected from the first but did not settle there until 1653. In 1654 an order of Council directed an augmentation of thirty-six pounds, for the better maintenance of Nathaniel Brewster, late minister of Netisheard and Irsted, Norfolk. While at the latter places, he married Abigail, daughter of John Reynes or Reymer of Norfolk, who died before 1656. In 1655 he was sent to Ireland by Lord Protector Cromwell, with the latter's son, Henry, who went with a commission as Major-General to command the forces there. Oliver Cromwell, writing to Lord Fleetwood, Lord Deputy of Ireland, under date June 22, 1655, says of Brewster: "Use this bearer, Mr. Brewster, kindly. Let him be near you; indeed he is a very able holy man; trust me you will find him so."

In the Milton State Papers are letters addressed to Oliver Cromwell, between 1649 and 1658, found among the political collections of John Milton, including several concerning the churches in Norfolk. Among them is a document in regard to the parsonages of Alby and Twaite, "presided over by Mr. Nathaniel Brewster, who, having constantly preached in both places, cannot raise above fifty pounds per annum out of both." "So as the said Mr. Brewster, a great family, and much employed in the country by preaching freely, when there is need, is reduced to very great straits, and not like to continue in his function without assistance from the State." It was probably in consequence of this report that he was sent to Ireland by Cromwell and it must have been while he was there in Dublin, that he met and married about 1656, Sarah, daughter of Roger Ludlow, as that family were also residing there during that period. It is claimed that he received the degree of B. D. from the University of Dublin in 1656, but his name does not appear in the catalogue of graduates. He returned to England and in 1662 his son Daniel was baptized in St. Ethelbert's Church, Alby. As his son Timothy was older than Daniel, the probabilities are that he was born in Dublin, Ireland. After the Restoration he returned to New England and for some months after Oct. 1663 he preached in the First Church at Boston. As early as 1658 he had received a call from Fairfield and Long Island and in 1664 he was preaching "each other week" at Eastchester, now in New York. In 1665 he went to Brookhaven, Long Island and in the autumn of that year accepted a call as the first minister of the church there. He died Sept. 18, 1690 aged 70 years. He and his wife Sarah were buried in the church yard at Setauket, L. I., but in 1889 their stones were not readable.

Nathaniel Brewster made his will, March 16, 1684/5 which was proven May 3, 1695 which shows his wife survived him and was executrix of his will. He mentions his oldest son John and sons Timothy and Daniel and his two grandchildren, Daniel and Abigail Burr. He bequeathed his dwelling house and lot, besides other acreage to his son Timothy, some of it being located in Newtown and "George's Neck" and "Mt. Misery."

The children of Nathaniel Brewster as far as has been ascertained are by his first wife: John; Abigail born about 1647, married Daniel Burr. By his second wife: Sarah, married as his second wife, Jonathan Smith; Timothy, born about 1658, married Mary Hawkins; Daniel, baptized 1662, married Anna Jayne; Hannah, born 1669, died 1775, married John Muncy and Samuel Thompson.

NOTE: The parentage of Nathaniel Brewster has been the problem of professional and non-professional researchers for many years and the compiler of these notes after weighing all the evidence and eliminating what seemed impossible has reached the conclusion that he was the son of Francis Brewster of New Haven, Ct.

Time and consideration were given to the claim that he was a grandson of Elder William Brewster, but it has been impossible to find even a semblance of any association, in any way, with the Elder's family.

The facts given below do show that he was closely connected with Francis and while they do not prove, he was actually his son, if one so stated positively, the statement would have a firmer basis than many accepted lineage claims.

Francis Brewster came to New Haven, Ct. with Eaton and Davenport in 1638 and in 1643 is named among the planters as having nine in his family and is listed as having been allotted 35 acres in the first division and owning 7 acres "in the Neck" and 54½ acres of meadow and received 263 acres in the second division. In 1644 he took the oath of fidelity. In 1646 he sailed for England on the ill fated vessel commanded by Captain Lambertson and he and his fellow companions were never heard of again. His wife had a seat in the church in 1646 but he is not listed there. Before Feb. 1, 1647, his widow Lucie, had married Thomas Pell, who on that date was ordered by the court to bring in the inventory of Francis Brewster's estate, which he reluctantly did. After the debts were paid it showed a balance of two hundred and eighty-eight pounds. Thomas Pell sold the Brewster property before Aug. 7, 1655 but what he did with the returns is not stated.

The records of New Haven do not show who the nine in Francis Brewster's family were, only Joseph, Elizabeth and Mary, besides Francis and his wife Lucie being named. In 1645 Joseph was old enough to be fined and stated that the wine he drank was from his father's cellar and Mrs. Brewster testified that her husband was not then at home and the testimony reads, so that one is convinced, that she was not the mother of Joseph. There was no other Brewster family in New Haven at that period but that of Francis. In 1654, Mrs. Pell and her two daughters, Elizabeth and Mary Brewster testified in court and Elizabeth had done so in 1653, thus showing they were not young children.

On Oct. 6, 1649, Thomas Pell, chirurgeon of New Haven, Ct. made Nathaniel Brewster his Attorney and said Nathaniel was then residing in Walderswick, Eng. thus proving a connecting link. In the will of Nathaniel Brewster above noted, is mentioned his two grandchildren, Daniel and Abigail Burr, children of his daughter Abigail. Thomas Pell made his will Sep. 21, 1669 which was proven Sep. 30, 1669 and is filed in Fairfield, Ct. in which he states that his wife Lucy is dead and bequeaths a portion of his estate to Abigail, wife of Daniel Burr, thus tightening the chain of the relationship between Nathaniel and Francis Brewster.

The descendants of Daniel son of Nathaniel have perpetuated the name of Francis but no where among the descendants have I met with the name Lucie, thus suggesting that she may have been the second wife of Francis Brewster, or as she figured so extensively in the court records, because mainly of her unbelief and her interest in witchcraft that they may not have cared to carry her name down, owing to their deep religious convictions.

All of the above shows close association between Francis and Nathaniel Brewster and while documentary proof is yet lacking, it will come to light as the research in England continues and until proven otherwise, I, for one shall always believe that Rev. Nathaniel Brewster was the son of Francis of New Haven, Ct.

2 TIMOTHY BREWSTER, son of Rev. Nathaniel and Sarah (Ludlow) Brewster was born about 1658, probably in Dublin, Ireland and was brought up in Brookhaven, Long Island, where he served as Town Clerk from 1688 until 1711, when he was followed by his brother Daniel, who served for 28 years. He married Mary, daughter of Zachariah Hawkins. The dates of their deaths have not been found. His name appears in the records up to 1741 and in 1749, his widow, Mary, was assessed. Their children as far as could be ascertained were: Nathaniel, born 1689, died Nov. 6, 1732, married Phoebe Smith; Timothy, born 1691; Mary, born 1695, died 1761, married Joshua Wells; Sarah, born 1701, died 1773, married Joseph Hawkins; Abigail, born 1703, died 1773, married Timothy Johnson; Dinah; Joseph, born 1709, died 1760, married Ruth Briscoe.

3 MARY BREWSTER, daughter of Timothy and Mary (Hawkins) Brewster, married in 1715, Joshua Wells. She died March 30, 1761, in her 66th year and is buried at Cutchogue, L. I.

1 RICHARD BROWNE, known as Lieutenant, was born in England about 1629 and had a home lot in Southold, L. I., March 15, 1659, located at the east end of the Town Street, which he sold in 1665 to Elnathan Topping and removed to Oyster Ponds now Orient where he and his son Richard built a large double house. When this house was repaired there was a weather vane put on the peak of the roof marked with the date 1691. The house stood for about one hundred and fifty years being torn down in 1837 when Noah G. Beebe erected a house on the same spot. It went out of the family in 1829.

He became the first and sole owner of the whole of the southwest end of Oyster Ponds now Orient, which included the site of the old cemetery. It is difficult to compute with accuracy his land possessions but he must have owned at least one thousand acres, deeds of which, many without dates, are recorded between the years of 1662 and 1674.

In 1662 he was a freeman of Connecticut, Southold at the period being under the jurisdiction of that Colony and in 1675 he was the richest man in town. In 1670 he was Sergeant and on June 13, 1685 he was made Ensign and on Oct. 8, 1686 he is listed as Lieutenant of a Foot Troop of Suffolk County Militia.

He married before 1651, Hannah, daughter of William and Dorothy King, of Salem, Mass., who outlived him. On Feb. 11, 1686, he placed all his property in trust, into the hands of his son-in-law John Tuthill, stipulating that he and his wife should continue to reside in the old home for life. He died shortly after this deed was made and unquestionably he and his wife are buried in the old cemetery at Orient, which to-day is difficult to find, but which contains stones of imported slate erected to the memory of many of his descendants. No stones to himself or his wife, or children are standing but many are piled in a heap and evidently part of the cemetery has been taken and the stone wall bordering one side of it might upon investigation give up some of the mutilated stones.

2 WALTER BROWNE, the fourth son of Lt. Richard and Dorothy (King) Browne was born after 1659. The Census of 1698 shows that he was living without a wife, but two sons, Daniel and Joseph are named. The name of his wife has not been found.

He married second, May 15, 1699–1700, Jane Conkline of Easthampton and died before July 15, 1711/12, as on that date she married Daniel Edwards.

3 JOSEPH BROWNE, son of Walter Browne was known as Justice Browne. There has been considerable dispute as to his parentage, but he is named in the Census of 1698 with Walter and Daniel as being one of a family by themselves and in his will of 1751, he mentions his brother Daniel and it is difficult to put any other construction on his lineage by the evidence found.

He married Dorothy, daughter of John and Mehitable (Wells) Tuthill, who died Feb. 4, 1774. He made his will May 30, 1751, which was proven July 16, 1751, in which he gives his wife Dorothy the use of all real estate during widowhood, except a piece of land lying on the north side of Oyster Pond Neck, which he gives to his son Joshua. He mentions his children besides Joshua, as: Dorothy and "daughters married and unmarried" but not named; Benjamin who receives all his lands and buildings in Southold; Joseph to have property in Brookhaven; Selah and Jeremiah, youngest sons the same. He makes his wife Dorothy, daughter Dorothy and his brother Daniel, his executors. He died July 14, 1751.

4 BENJAMIN BROWNE, son of Joseph and Dorothy (Tuthill) Browne, married at Orient, L. I., Mary Tuthill, April 2, 1739. The date of her death has not been found but in 1770, he married second, or perhaps third, Abigail Benjamin, who survived him and died Dec. 28, 1784 in her 58th year. His will, made in Southold, April 22, 1774 was proven May 10, 1774, he dying April 29, 1774. In his will he mentions his wife Abigail, leaving her his Great Bible, his gold buttons and the use of his riding chair. The Bible, buttons and chair for life only if she remains his widow. To his son Gershom Browne of Brookhaven he left the land there on which Gershom was living "which is about ninety rods in width and three miles in length," also a cow and a yoke of oxen. To his son Israel he left all his lands in Goshen, N. Y., and his acreage in Brookhaven on the west side of Isaac Smith's dwelling. To his son George, his property in Southold. To his four daughters, Mary, Jemima, Elizabeth and Bethiah he gave the remainder of his land in Brookhaven and his personal estate. His wife Abigail was the widow of Lt. Simeon Benjamin.

5 GERSHOM BROWNE, son of Benjamin and Mary (Tuthill) Browne, was born in 1746 and died Sept. 22, 1801. His will is filed in Riverhead, L. I. dated June 28, 1800, proven Oct. 7, 1801, in which he mentions his wife Mary, sons George and Benjamin and daughters, Mary Bailey, Martha Davis, Dolly Randall and Sabery Davis. He made Caleb M. Hulse, Apollos Wetemore and wife Mary his executors. She died Nov. 14, 1802, aged 56 years and 10 months and they are buried opposite the Presbyterian Church at Middle Island, L. I.

Gershom Browne signed the Association in Brookhaven, May 1775. (The Refugees of 1776 from L. I. to Conn., p. 1057.)

The maiden name of his wife has not been found.

6 MARTHA BROWNE, known as "Patty," daughter of Gershom and Mary ——— Browne, died Jan. 25, 1862, aged 89 years, 3 months and 29 days. She married Briant (Bryant) Davis, born Jan. 27, 1770, died April 4, 1848. They are buried opposite the Presbyterian Church at Middle Island, L. I.

1 THOMAS BRYAN resided in the parish and county town of Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire, England. (See Note.)

2 ALEXANDER BRYAN, son of Thomas Bryan was born in Aylesbury, Eng., where he was baptized Sept. 29, 1602. He married in England Anne, daughter of Robert Baldwin. She died in Milford, Ct., Feb. 20, 1661 and he married second, Susanna widow of Samuel Fitch, schoolmaster at Hartford. His wife Anne received property from her uncle Richard Baldwin, in Wendover, England and in 1663, Alexander and his son Richard sold this property, after the death of the wife and mother. Alexander Bryan was one of the first settlers of Milford, Ct. in 1639. He was a man of great influence in the Colony of New Haven and after the union with Connecticut, he served as Deputy from Milford to Hartford in 1661 and on May 9, 1678 was elected Assistant to the Governor of the Colony. July 11, 1668, George Baldwin of Huntington, L. I. with his wife Mary deeded Alexander Bryan and his son Richard, both of Milford, Ct., land in Eaton's Neck on the east side of Huntington Harbor. This deed is recorded in New York under date of Aug. 8, 1668. Aug. 23, 1686, Governor Dongan granted "the Lordship and Manor of Eaton" to Alexander and Richard Bryan and this grant shows that Richard had transferred his part to his eldest son Alexander. Theophilus Eaton had purchased this property in 1646 from the Indians. It is doubtful if Alexander ever made his home on Long Island, altho he was a large land owner there.

The records of Milford, Ct., show that as early as 1640 Alexander and his son Richard owned boats that plied between Milford, Boston and the West Indies.

The exact date of his death is not known but it was between July 20 and Nov. 6, 1679.

The Memorial Bridge at Milford commemorates the founding of Milford and the names of Alexander and his wife may be seen upon it.

2 RICHARD BRYAN, son of Alexander and Anne (Baldwin) Bryan was born in England before 1632 and came to Milford, Ct. with his parents who were there in 1639. He was his father's associate in business as well as in his real estate transactions. He married before 1649, Mary, daughter of William and Margaret Pantry. In 1669 he had a home in Huntington, L. I. and had for his neighbors, Mark Meigs, Joseph Whitman, Thomas Brush and John Sammis. April 22, 1673, he sold his "accommodations" in Huntington to Walter Noaks and no further evidence has been found concerning him.

3 ALEXANDER BRYAN, son of Richard and Mary (Pantry) Bryan was born in Milford, Ct. 1651 and married, probably in that town, Sybil, daughter of Rev. John Whiting of Hartford. Just where he made his home cannot be definitely stated for he figures in transactions of real estate in Milford as well as in Huntington, L. I. probably inheriting land in the latter place from his father and grandfather, but he was Town Clerk of Milford in 1698.

The Prerogative Court of Suffolk Co., Long Island, under date of Sept. 27, 1700, records that Alexander Bryan late of Milford, Conn. died intestate and his wife Sibella having taken out Letters of Administration, gave power to William Whiting of Hartford to dispose of or secure for her certain negroes and other estate of said Alexander in Suffolk County. On Aug. 26, 1701, William Whiting made an accounting to her which was satisfactory and the administration was returned into her hands. He died in Milford, Aug. 19, 1701 and in 1705 she married Hugh Gray of Huntington, L. I. and was granted Letters of Administration on his estate Feb. 11, 1706/7. She then returned to Milford, Ct. and was living there in 1711.

4 JOHN BRYAN, son of Alexander and Sybil (Whiting) Bryan, was born in Milford, Conn., July 12, 1680 and resided in his later life in Huntington, L. I. where he was chosen Constable, May 4, 1714. He married Sybil whose maiden name has not been proven. The last mention found of him is in 1759 when he witnessed a will in Huntington.

5 SYBIL BRYAN as Briant, daughter of John and Sybil Bryan, married in Huntington, L. I. as Briant, March 18, 1739/40, Timothy Norton of Brookhaven, L. I.

See Norton.

NOTE: This name is spelled Bryan, Bryant, Brien and Briant, sometimes several spellings occuring in the same deed. On Long Island from about 1715 the name quite generally became Briant.

1 EDWARD COLLINS appears first at Cambridge, Mass. in 1638, where he was a deacon in the First Church and was made freeman May 13, 1640. From 1654 to 1670, with the exception of the year 1661, he represented Cambridge in the General Court. He lived many years on the plantation of Governor Craddock at Medford and at last purchased it, selling off later considerable portions. Cotton Mather in the Magnalia, speaks of him as the "good old man, the deacon of the church at Cambridge, who is now gone to heaven; but before he went thither, had the satisfaction to see several most worthy sons become very famous persons in their generation."

He died in Charlestown, Mass., April 9, 1698, aged 86 years. His wife Martha, maiden name not known, with several children, came from England with him.

2 SIBYL COLLINS, daughter of Edward and Martha Collins was born in 1638 and married in 1654 Rev. John Whiting who died in Hartford, Ct. Sept. 8, 1689. She died there in June 1672 and her death is mentioned in a letter John Winthrop wrote to his son Wait, June 4, 1672.

1 FULK DAVIS was of Southampton, L. I. in 1642 when on Oct. 9 he was granted land. Tradition states that he was a native of Wales. In 1655 he was a resident of Easthampton and there married as his second wife, Mary, widow first of James Haines and second of Ralph Dayton. The name of his first wife is not known. He removed to Jamaica, L. I. before 1674 as did his sons Samuel and Jonathan, the latter dying before 1675. His other sons were John, Joseph and Benjamin and there was one known daughter and perhaps others. Fulk Davis died in Jamaica before Nov. 4, 1692.

2 JOSEPH DAVIS, son of Fulk Davis and his first wife was early of Southampton, L. I., but on Dec. 23, 1668, the town of Brookhaven, granted him a weaver's accommodation "paying as others do" and he agreed to weave the town's yarn into cloth on as reasonable terms "as they do generally upon the island." The town gave him and his brother John land at Fire Place. He made his will at Brookhaven, Oct. 5, 1689, which was proven May 25, 1691. He died Feb. 15. 1690/1. He married Elizabeth, (maiden name not known) who survived him and in his will he names his children; eldest son, Joseph, Benjamin, Samuel, Daniel and Mary.

3 BENJAMIN DAVIS, son of Joseph and Elizabeth Davis was born in Brookhaven, L. I. probably about 1680 and died in 1761. The name of his wife has not been found and the names of only three of his children, James, Hannah and David.

3 SAMUEL DAVIS, son of Joseph and Elizabeth Davis was born in Brookhaven, L. I. and probably died there, but nothing has been found concerning him or his wife, excepting that in 1726 he was one of the Trustees of the town.

4 DAVID DAVIS, son of Benjamin Davis was born in Brookhaven, L. I. about 1700 and made his will there Feb. 27, 1760 which was proven, Sept. 13, 1763. He gave his son William his homestead and also "my east Long lot from the Wading River path running south to the Pines called Coram Pines," and appoints him to "maintain my father Benjamin and my sister Hannah." He bequeaths his son David "3 Long Lots from the north end to the Pines" also " my share of meadow in the Old Man's Harbor"; also, "my lot of land on the Plains but son William to have the use of said lot for 7 years." He mentions Henry, Elisha, Spicer and Joshua as his four youngest sons, leaving them all the south end of "my Long Lots from the Country Rose to the Pines, called the Coram Pines"; also, "½ of a share of meadow on the South Beach and ½ of a Lot on the east side of the Connecticut River." He made his son David and Capt. Samuel Davis his executors and the witnesses were, Timothy Norton, Silas Davis and Henry Robinson. His wife is not mentioned so she probably pre-deceased him. Her first name was Phebe and she was living in 1753, when their son Spicer was baptized in the Presbyterian Church at Smithtown. That she was connected with the Spicer family is quite evident but the compiler of the Spicer Genealogy has been unable to place her. There is also strong circumstantial evidence of a Robinson connection which could not be proven.

4 SAMUEL DAVIS, son of Samuel Davis was born in Brookhaven, L. I. and made his will there Feb. 3, 1761, which was proven June 25, 1761 in which he mentions his wife Hannah, whose maiden name has not been found. He named his children as James, Isaac, Elijah, Elnathan, Samuel, Rebecca and Jonathan who was evidently deceased. He was an extensive land owner as he mentioned some of his holdings by the mile. His son James received the bulk of his property besides the "Great Square table and the old Tea table, the corn and the hogs." By trade he was a carpenter and left his tools to his son Samuel. He made his sons James and Elijah with Henry Robinson his executors and bequeathed his wife a mulatto girl. The witnesses to his will were Henry Robinson, Phineas Davis and Hannah Brown.

5 DAVID DAVIS, son of David and Phebe Davis was born May 6, 1737 and died March 10, 1825. He married Jan. 19, 1763, Anna Norton, born March 18, 1746, died Aug. 27, 1818, daughter of Timothy and Sybil (Briant) Norton. He served in the Revolutionary War as Ensign in the 2nd Brookhaven Company, commissioned Sept. 13, 1775. (Archives of the State of New York, p. 287) (Refugees of 1776 from Long Island to Conn., p. 990). Vol. 3, p. 1 of the Huntington, L. I. printed Town Records, shows that on Sept. 5, 1775, at a meeting held at Smithtown, preparatory for the War, David Davis was chosen Ensign of the Second Company in Brookhaven. The children of David and Anna Davis as far as could be ascertained were: David, born April 6, 1764, died May 13, 1816; Anna, born Nov. 27, 1765; Rhoda, born Jan. 31, 1768; Bryant, born Jan. 27, 1770, died April 4, 1848; Betsy, born Feb. 3, 1776, died Jan. 4, 1867.

5 ELIJAH DAVIS, son of Samuel and Hannah Davis was born in 1726 and died in 1802. He married, Mary, born 1732, died Oct. 1, 1786 whose maiden name has not been definitely ascertained. A deed on file in Riverhead Liber C. p. 49, dated June 21, 1774 indicates that she was a Moger, as James Moger, Jr. of Brookhaven with his wife Juliana deeds Ebenezer Dayton, Isaiah Moger and Elijah Davis, land in their actual possession in Brookhaven, near Coram, etc. That he was related closely to the Goldsmith family is evident by that name being perpetuated in his son and grandson, and the probabilities are that his grandmother was a Goldsmith but the proof has not been found. He served in the Revolutionary War as Quarter-Master, May 16, 1775, 4th Co. of Brookhaven under Capt. David Mulford and signed the Association at Brookhaven in May 1775. (Refugees of 1776 from L. I. to Conn. pp. 1057, 1060, 1061.)

On Jan. 24, 1753 he and his wife Mary joined the Presbyterian Church at Smithtown and had their daughter Mary baptized the same day. In 1776 he was one of the Trustees of the Town of Brookhaven.

6 BRYANT OR BRIANT DAVIS, son of David and Anna (Norton) Davis was born Jan. 27, 1770 and died April 4, 1848. He married Martha, known as Patty, who died Jan. 25, 1862, aged 89 years, 3 months and 29 days, daughter of Gershom and Mary Browne.

Briant Davis of Brookhaven, made his will Jan. 9, 1843, which was proven June 29, 1848, in which he mentions his wife but fails to name her. He names his grandsons Daniel Alonzo Davis and Ira Briant Davis, and his four daughters as, Nancy, wife of Davis Norton; Polly, wife of John Hutchinson; Sabra, wife of Horace G. Randall and Urania, wife of Brewster Terry and makes his two sons-in-law, Davis Norton and Brewster Terry, his executors. His will was witnessed by Albert Tuthill of Southold and Mary A. Homan of Brookhaven. The two grandsons mentioned in his will were the sons of his son Albert B. Davis whose will was proven Oct. 7, 1828 and who had besides the two sons, a daughter Joanna and wife Clarissa.

6 ELIZABETH DAVIS, daughter of Elijah and Mary Davis was born Jan. 6, 1748 and died in 1834 as the widow of Timothy Brewster Terry, born Jan. 29, 1735, died Aug. 23, 1795.

See Terry.

7 URANIA DAVIS, daughter of Briant and Patty (Browne) Davis was born Dec. 14, 1813 and died Dec. 9 or 12, 1898 as the widow of Brewster Terry, born Jan. 5, 1808, died in 1895, whom she married Dec. 15, 1834 at Middle Island.

6 HUGUES DE LANNOY was born about 1311 and died in June 1349. He married in 1329, Marguerite "dame de Mingoval, daughter of Gilles, a Peer of the Chateau de Bethune." She died at 70 years of age and was buried by her husband's side in the entry to the choir at the church at Lys.

Their son.

7 GUILLEBERT DE LANNOY, married Catherine de Molembais, "dame and heiress." He was seigneur de Santes de Willerval, de Rollancourt and de Beaumont.

Their son.

8 BANDOUIN DE LANNOY was "surnamed 'le Bégue' (the stammerer)." In 1429 he became a Founder of "Chevalier de l' order de la Toison d' OR.," and died in 1474. He married for his second wife Adrienne de Berlaymont, who died April 29, 1439, daughter of Jacques de Berlaymont and his wife Catherine de Robersaert.

Their son.

9 BANDOUIN DE LANNOY was born before 1439 and died May 7, 1501. He was "Chevalier de la Toison d'OR, Chamberlain and Premier Master d'Hotel de Marie de Bourgogne and Maximillen, Arch-duke of Austria (1459–1519) after 1477." He served with "duc de Bourgogne" at the siege of Beauvais in 1472 and was Governor of Zutphen when he married "Michelle d'Esne, dame de Conroy, daughter of Amé d'Esne d'Haullien." She died April 22, 1511.

Their son.

10 PHILLIPPE DE LANNOY was born before 1501 and died Sept. 12, 1543. In 1531 he was created "Chevalier de la Toison d'OR (Golden Fleece)" and also a "Knight of the Golden Cross," by Emperor Charles V. He was "Councillor and Chamberlain of the Emperor, Chief of the Finances, Grand Master d'Hotel of the Queen of Hungary and Bohemia and the seigneur de Tourcoing." He married Magdelaine de Bourgogne (Burgundy), "dame de Falaise, born about 1489, died 1511, daughter of Bandouin de Bourgogne and his wife de Lille, seigneur de Falais, de Bredam, de Sommerdick, de Manilly and Baron de Bangnuodo, Envoy to Spain 1488, born 1445, died 1508." He was a prisoner at Nancy in 1477.

Their son.

11 JEAN DE LANNOY, seigneur de Molembias de Solre-le-Chateau and de Conroy, born about 1511, died May 25, 1560. He was made Chevalier de la Toison d'OR in 1546; Chamberlain to the Emperor of the Holy Roman Empire, Charles V. (1519–1556), Gouverneur de Haynaut and Captain-General of a province in Flanders in 1559.

He married Jeanne de Ligne, dame de Barbançon, daughter of Louis de Ligne, seigneur de Barbançon and his wife, Marie de Berghes.

Their son.

12 GYSBERT DE LANNOY was born at Tourcoing in 1545 of the Roman Catholic faith, but became a Protestant, probably just after the siege of Tourcoing in 1556. The name of his wife is not known.

Their son.

13 JEAN DE LANNOY was born about 1570 and died in Leyden, Holland in 1604. He married at the Walloon Church, Jan. 13, 1596, Marie le Mahieu of a Brabant family. She married second in 1605, Jean Pesyn or Pesin and died in 1650. In a description of the Town of Leyden written in 1762, it is stated that a home was built for the congregation of the French Church on the Pieters Kernhof by Jan Pesyn and his wife Maria de Lanoy and that above its entrance bearing the date 1633 were inscribed the following lines:

"Here you see of the ruins of a dilapidated hut—
By a childless couple a fine structure built—for poor
Strangers who were cast out from their Fatherland and peaceably here lived."

Also in the museum in Leyden called the Leidsche Lackenhal are still to be seen in oil two portraits of Jan Pesyn and two of Marie de Lannoy and one of her daughter by Jean de Lannoy. Marie de Lannoy was apparently of service to the Pilgrims at Leyden as she established there before 1609, twelve houses for those who were driven from their native land. Pastor John Robinson (1575–1625) there took refuge and doubtless others with him, which acquaintance undoubtedly led Phillippe de Lannoy, her son to join the Pilgrims in their new home. Her will concerning this foundation was in Leyden 1893.

Their son.

14 PHILLIPPE DE LANNOY (De La Noye, Delanoy, Delano) was baptized in the Walloon Church in Leyden, Holland, Dec. 6, 1603, but it is claimed he was born in 1602. He died in Bridgewater, Mass. about 1681, aged 79 years. He came to New England in the ship Fortune in 1621, landing at Plymouth and was the first Huguenot in New England to found a house and leave descendants. His name is now generally spelled 'Delano" but he used various spellings in deeds, etc.

Governor Winslow in his "Hypocrisie Unmasked" states that "Philip de la Noye from Leyden, born of French parents: who coming to age of discernment, demanded also communion with us, and proving himself to be come of such parents as were in full communion with the French churches, was hereupon admitted by the church of Plymouth and upon letters of recommendation from the church of Plymouth, he was also admitted into fellowship with the church at Duxbury."

He married first at Duxbury, Dec. 19, 1634, Hester Dewsbury and second in 1657 also in Duxbury, Mary Pontus, daughter of William Pontus and widow of James Glass.

He was of Capt. Myles Standish's Military Company in 1643 and in the Company raised by Lt. William Holmes in the Pequot War of 1637.

15 SAMUEL DELANO, son of Phillippe and Mary (Pontus) Delano was born in Duxbury, Mass., in 1659 and died there in 1728. He married about 1679, Elizabeth, daughter of Alexander and Sarah (Alden) Standish.

In a deed at Plymouth, he states "whereas my grandfather William Pontus died seized of one whole right at Middleborough laid abt. 1646, settled upon Mary Delano and Hannah Churchill daughters, to be equally divided, said Samuel and heirs of Mary for 14 pounds to John Churchill, weaver, ½ said land in right of Mary, my mother (Pontus)."

16 PRISCILLA DELANO, daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Standish) Delano "died in the night" at Duxbury, Feb. 7, 1746/7 as the wife of Benjamin Simmons, whom she married July 7, 1715.

1 JACOB DOCKENDORF is first mentioned when his marriage to Margaret McFarland was recorded in Bristol, Me., Oct. 1, 1761. Continued and careful research has not divulged his ancestry nor do the records show that he took any interest in the Revolutionary War, but as the birth of his last recorded child was July 17, 1770, it is possible that he died prior to 1775. His children as listed in the vital records of Bristol and Bremen are as follows: John, born June 24, 1762; Mary, Aug. 28, 1763; Isabel, Feb. 11, 1766; Sarah, March 13, 1767; Solomon, July 31, 1769 and Jacob, July 17, 1770.

He married Margaret, daughter of Solomon McFarland.

2 SARAH (Sally) DOCKENDORF, daughter of Jacob and Margaret (McFarland) Dockendorf was born in Bristol, Me., March 13, 1767 and died in Round Pond, Me., Oct. 29, 1840 as the widow of James Yates, born March 20, 1778, died Nov. 9, 1830.

1 JOHN DRAKE married in the time of Henry V, (1413–1422) Christiana, daughter of John and Alice (Hampton) Billet and heiress of the estate of Ashe, County Devon, England. He was born before 1400 and by his marriage received the above estate which was handed down from father to son from 1413 to 1793, although the usual residence of the family was at Mt. Drake built in the same Parish and undoubtedly the home of the Drakes continually from the time of the coming of William the Conqueror.

Mt. Drake is set in Musbury, Axminister, Co. Devon. It is on a plateau of about one hundred and sixty acres which was once the seat of a British and then a Roman encampment, being fortified and capable of accommodating two hundred or more persons. The house is sometimes called Musbury Castle.

No record exists to tell us when the church at Musbury was built, but early in the days of Queen Elizabeth, the Drakes had a mortuary chapel attached to it. In the time of James the First they lengthened it into an aisle and called it Drake's Aisle which was appropriated by their families, retainers and servants.

John Drake at the time of his marriage, although living at Mt. Drake, was engaged in trade and shipping at Exmouth, near by.

Ashe is about one and three quarters miles south of Axminister in the eastern part of County Devon and consists of about one hundred and eighty acres.

2 JOHN DRAKE, son of John and Christiana (Billet) Drake succeeded his father as heir to the estates and also his business, but settled in Otterton, County Devon and married Christiana, daughter of John Antage. He was unlawfully dispossessed of Ashe.

3 JOHN DRAKE, son of John and Christiana (Antage) Drake, married a daughter of John Cruwys of County Devon. The Cruwys were an ancient Saxon family, their name recurring frequently in the old Devonshire rhyming legends concerning Saxon families, prior to the coming of William the Conqueror.

4 JOHN DRAKE, son of John and ——— (Cruwys) Drake married Agnes, daughter of John Kelloway.

5 JOHN DRAKE, son of John and Agnes (Kelloway) Drake, by legal proceedings, regained the estate of Ashe and married Margaret, daughter of John Cole of Rill, County Devon.

6 JOHN DRAKE, son of John and Margaret (Cole) Drake died Oct. 4, 1558. He married in the twenty-sixth year of the reign of King Henry VIII, Amye, daughter of Roger and Margaret (Whitleigh) Grenville of Stow, Cornwall. She died in 1577. They are buried in the Parish Church at Musbury and their tomb may still be seen bearing their effigies and the following inscriptions: "Here lieth the body of John Drake of Aish, Esq., and Aime his wife who was the daughter of Sir Roger Graynefield, Kt., by whom he had issue sex sons whereof lived three at his death, viz. Barnard, Robert & Richard. He died Oct. 4, 1558 and she died 18 Februarie, 1577."

7 BARNARD DRAKE, son of John and Amye (Grenville) Drake, Knight of Mt. Drake and Ashe in Devonshire, was knighted at Greenwich, Jan. 9, 1585. He was a very distinguished man and greatly in favor with Queen Elizabeth who conferred the above honor upon him. Prince, in his "Worthies of Devon, p. 328" states that "he was a gentleman of rare accomplishments and well qualified for either soldier or courtier. He went to Newfoundland with a commission, having divers ships under his command and he took as prizes many Portugal vessels and brought them to England, and for this undertaking he is ranked the second among the foremost sea-captains of England. His last exploit was in the English war with Spain when he captured a large Portugal ship and brought her into Dartmouth which action however brave it might have been, proved fatal to himself and other persons of quality for when the seamen were brought to trial, most of the spectators, witnesses and eleven of the jury were affected with some subtle poison and shortly died. He died from this poison at his home in Ashe April 10 and was buried April 12, 1586 in the Parish Church at Musbury, where his monument bearing his effigy still stands. He married Gertrude, daughter of Bartholomew Fortescue.

8 JOHN DRAKE, son of Sir Barnard and Gertrude (Fortescue) Drake was of Mt. Drake and Ashe and was buried April 11, 1628, in the Parish Church of Musbury where his tomb may still be seen. He married Dorothy, daughter of William Button who is buried by his side. Their inscriptions read: "Here lies John Drake Esq. buried here ye 11 of April 1628 and Dorothy Drake his wife buried here ye 13th of Dec^{r} 1631."

9 WILLIAM DRAKE, son of John and Dorothy (Button) Drake was known as William of Yardbury in Colyton. He married Margaret, daughter of William Westover, Nov. 14, 1620, in London, Eng. His will was proven in London, Feb. 29, 1639/40 and his monument may still be seen in the Temple Church, London. She was buried in the same place April 16, 1635.

10 THOMAS DRAKE, son of William and Margaret (Westover) Drake was born in Colyton, Devonshire, Eng., and his baptism, Sept. 13, 1635, may still be seen on the Parish register there. About 1654, he was residing in Taunton, Mass. but finally made his permanent home in Weymouth, where he had property as early as 1651. In 1667 he was a member of the Suffolk County Troops and had a part in King Philip's War of 1675/6. He married first, Jane Holbrook and second, March 9, 1681, Millicent Ford, widow of John Carver and daughter of William Ford. He resided in Weymouth near where the old tide mill was, corner of what is now Commercial and Essex Streets, in the North Parish. He died in 1699. The date of her death has not been found.

11 EXPERIENCE DRAKE, daughter of Thomas and Millicent (Ford) Drake was born in 1683 and married in Boston, Mass., Jan. 23, 1706, William Richards who died Jan. 2, 1728.

1 PETER HALLOCK was in New Haven, Conn., when in 1640 Rev. John Youngs "gathered his church anew" and took up his abode in Southold, L. I. and tradition states that Peter Hallock was the first of the thirteen settlers, who stepped ashore at that place, in that part of the village still called Hallock's Neck. He purchased from the Indians the tract of land since called Oyster Ponds, now Orient and shortly after, returned to England and brought over his wife, who was a widow Howell, with one son, when he married her. On his return he found the Indians had resold the Orient property and he purchased about ten miles west of Southold village, a farm extending from Long Island Sound on the north to Peconic Bay on the south, on which he settled. His original homestead in 1865, in Aquebogue, then in Southold, two miles west of Mattituck, was still occupied by his descendants. He died in 1688/90.

2 MARY HAWKINS, daughter of Zachariah and Mary Hawkins, married Timothy, son of Rev. Nathaniel Brewster. She was assessed as his widow in 1749.

1 BARNABAS HORTON was born in Mousely, England, July 13, 1600 and came to New England in the ship Swallow, locating first at Hampton, Mass., but in 1640 was of New Haven, Ct. where with his wife and two children he resided until Oct. 21 of that year when he went to Southold, L. I. with the first settlers of that place. He represented Southold at New Haven from 1654 to 1661 and served as Magistrate many years. It is claimed that he built the first frame house in Southold. His home was standing in 1875 in which his son Jonathan lived twenty-eight years, his son Jonathan sixty years, his son Lawrence and his son Jonathan fifty years and lastly Jonathan G. fifty years. The latter dying July 3, 1873 when it became the property of the wife of Rev. Williams of Brooklyn, who was an adopted daughter. In 1875 the old Bible of Barnabas Horton was owned by Hon. Silas Horton of Southold and a chest he brought over with him is in the possession of the Long Island Historical Society of Brooklyn. Barnabas Horton is buried in the old cemetery in Southold and the stone which marks his burial place was brought with him from England and its inscription reads: "Here lieth buried the body of Mr. Barnabas Horton, who was born in Mousely, Leicestershire, England, and died in Southold, the 13th day of July, 1680, aged 80 years." He made his will May 10, 1680, which was proven Nov. 18, 1681 in which he mentions his wife Mary, whose maiden name is not known. He names all his children and calls Caleb his third son, leaving him "one horse and one half of my right in Accabuck to what he hath in possession at Corchaug for his full portion."

2 CALEB HORTON, son of Barnabas and Mary Horton was born in 1640 and died Oct. 3, 1702. He never had a town lot assigned to him in the old bounds of Southold, but in 1669, his father made a gift to him of a tract of land at Corchaug containing three hundred acres "the cartway (road) at the front and the North Sea at the rear" and on this property he built his house, cleared the land and became a wealthy farmer. The farm was in the family for three generations when in 1782, it was sold to John Wickham and in 1882 was still owned by his descendants. Caleb Horton married in Southold, Dec. 23, 1665, Abigail, daughter of Peter Hallock. She died April 7, 1697 and he married second in 1699, Hester Mapes.

He made his will Dec. 30, 1699 in which he mentions his wife Hester, his sons, Jonathan, David, Barnabas, deceased and Caleb; his daughters, Mary, wife of Nathaniel Terry; Phebe to have the box belonging to her deceased mother and she to live with her sister Hester Mapes; Hannah, wife of Ensign John Booth; Hester, wife of Jonathan Mapes, Abigail, wife of Benjamin Moore; grandchildren as Christopher Youngs, deceased; grandson Barnabas to be put to Mr. White until 21 years, son of Barnabas deceased. Son David to be placed with Joshua Wells until 21 years. Evidently his second wife was a widow as he mentions "my wife Hester's children."

3 HESTER HORTON, daughter of Caleb and Abigail (Hallock) Horton, died May 16, 1709 as the wife of Jonathan Mapes, whom she married March 17, 1696.

1 PAUL HULSE is the first one of this family whose direct line can be definitely traced. There can be no doubt but that he was the grandson of Richard and Hannah Hulse who were in Brookhaven, L. I. between 1665–1670 but through which son is not known. In a deed given by Paul's son Caleb Mapes Hulse he mentions "land that was my father's" but a thorough search at Riverhead fails to reveal any land belonging to Paul, owing no doubt to deeds being unrecorded.

Paul Hulse was a Deacon in the Presbyterian Church at Middle Island, L. I. and is buried in its cemetery across the road from its edifice and his grave stone shows that he died Feb. 7, 1799 in his 81st year. He married first in Southold, L. I., Dec. 2, 1747, Esther daughter of Caleb and Tabitha (Alibon) Mapes. When she died is not known. He married second, July 22, 1773, widow Mary Filer of Drowned Meadow who survived him. He made his will at Brookhaven, Oct. 10, 1785, which was proven April 12, 1799 in which he mentions his wife Mary and bequeaths his son Isaac "the place where I live" and names his other children as Caleb M., Tabitha and Martha. This will is filed in Riverhead, L. I. Liber B. p. 43.

During the Revolutionary War, he as Deacon Paul Hulse, of the 4th Company of Militia under Capt. David Mulford, signed the Association in Brookhaven, in May 16, 1775 and June 8, 1775. (The Refugees of 1776 from L. I. to Conn. pp. 1060 and 1061.)

2 CALEB MAPES HULSE, son of Deacon Paul and Esther (Mapes) Hulse was born at Coram, L. I. Sept. 22, 1748 and died there Jan. 1, 1810. He married at Wading River, L. I. July 22, 1773, Jerusha, daughter of John and Charity Petty of that place. She was baptized in the Presbyterian Church at Mattituck as their daughter on Aug. 29, 1753 and died at Fire Place, Sept. 7, 1840. They are both buried in the Presbyterian Cemetery at Middle Island, L. I.

He was known as Major Caleb Hulse, serving as 2nd Major in the Suffolk County Militia in 1797 but his name has not been found on the Revolutionary rolls. He made his will in Brookhaven, Dec. 3, 1808, which was proven Jan. 8, 1810, in which he mentions his wife Jerusha and names his children as Hannah Terry; Juliana Davis; Elizabeth Ellison; son Phineas and his son Ulysses, leaving them part of the Jonathan Benjamin farm which "I had by deed from Benjamin Overton, executor of Jonathan Benjamin"; son Caleb Mapes and his wife Lucy; son Whitehead K. "land that was my father's"; son Daniel "land I had of Elisha Hammond"; son Isaac; son Simeon; daughter Charity; daughter Elizabeth. His executors were his wife with Benjamin Hallock and Capt. Samuel Davis.

His son Isaac became a distinguished naval surgeon in the United States service, receiving the appointment of surgeon's mate in the Navy in May 1823. In 1824 he was made Assistant Surgeon of the naval hospital at Gasport, Va., and in 1825 was made Surgeon. He was located for sometime at Pensacola, Fla. and in 1838, received the appointment of Fleet Surgeon of the West Indies Squadron.

3 HANNAH HULSE, daughter of Caleb Mapes and Jerusha (Petty) Hulse, was born at Wading River, L. I. Sept. 12 or 17, 1774 and died at Patchogue, L. I. July 22, 1858 and is buried there. She married first in 1789, Elisha Hammond, born in Coram, L. I, who died there Nov. 20, 1803 in his 36th year and who is buried in the Baptist cemetery of that place. She married second in Feb. 1807, Brewster, born March 29, 1770, died Feb. 1, 1841, son of Timothy Brewster and Elizabeth (Davis) Terry, who is also buried at Patchogue, L. I.

In a private manuscript, the children by her first husband are named Samuel Smith, Jerusha, Caleb and Mary; by her second husband, Brewster, Rhoda Swazey, Eliza Ann, Charlotte Marilla and Ophelia Hatfield.

1 WILLIAM KING of Salem, Mass. was born in England about 1595 and is first traced in a list of one hundred and six passengers entitled "Bound for New England, Waymouth, ye 20 March, 1635." This list includes the names of William King, aged 40, Dorothy his wife aged 34, Mary his daughter, aged 12, Katheryn his daughter aged 10, William his son, aged 8, Hannah, his daughter, aged 6.

In the Register of the Abbey Church of St. Mary at Sherborne, Dorset, is the following entry: "1616–17, Feb. 17, Williami Kinge et Dorothiae Hayne nupt."

On reaching New England they settled at Salem, Mass, where he was made freeman March 25, 1636 and received the same year a grant of forty acres at Jeffrey's Creek, now Manchester. In 1638 he received thirty acres at Royall Side at the head of Basse River, now Beverly, where the King homestead was situated, which stood until about 1840 when it was taken down and the site is now occupied by the Asylum and School for Deaf Mutes.

The name of William King appears in a list of Salem Grand Jurors in 1637 and also on the roll of members of the First Church. He took an active part in the religious controversies of the day and in 1637 identified himself with the Antinomians, a step which placed him under the ban of the Salem authorities and he was admonished to sever his connection with that sect, under penalty of being disarmed, and refusing to do so, he was directed to leave his gun with Lt. Danforth.

He died intestate about 1650/1. His widow Dorothy and his son William settled the estate under the direction of the court and in the settlement is mentioned the daughter Deliverance aged 9 years besides the other children born in England.

In 1652 his widow purchased of John Swazey his dwelling house and land, lying between that of Richard Hyde and Daniell Rumball on the South River; also a tract of land in the South Field. In 1653 she sold same and in 1658 when giving testimony, she stated she was about 60 years of age. In 1684 she received commonage in Southold, L. I. where several of her daughters had taken up their residence, and she probably died there.

2 HANNAH KING, daughter of William and Dorothy (Hayne) King, was born in England in 1629 and died in Southold, L. I. as the widow of Lt. Richard Browne of that place.

See Browne.

2 DELIVERANCE KING, daughter of William and Dorothy (Hayne) King, was baptized in Salem, Mass, the 31st of 8th month, 1641, and died in Southold, L. I., Jan. 25, 1688/9 as the wife of John Tuthill, who died Oct. 12, 1717 and whom she married Feb. 17, 1657. Among their descendants of note are Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, D. D. and President Benjamin Harrison.

1 WILLIAM LUDLOW was of Hill Deverill, County Wilts, England, and butler to Kings Henry IV, V, and VI. He was a member of Parliament for Ludgershall, Wilts. He married Margaret, daughter and heiress of William Reymer and was buried in St. Thomas's Church at Salisbury.

2 JOHN LUDLOW, son of William and Margaret (Reymer) Ludlow, married Lora, daughter of Thomas Ringwood. His will was proven, April 26, 1488.

3 JOHN LUDLOW, son of John and Lora (Ringwood) Ludlow, married Philippa, daughter and heiress of William Bulstrode of London. His will was proven Nov. 14, 1519 and he was buried in the chancel of the Hill Deverill Church.

4 WILLIAM LUDLOW, son of John and Philippa (Bulstrode) Ludlow, married Jane, daughter and co-heiress of Nicholas Moore of Withford, County Southampton. His will was proven May 6, 1533.

5 GEORGE LUDLOW, son of William and Jane (Moore) Ludlow, married Edith, third daughter of Lord Andrew de Windsor, Earl of Plymouth of Stanwell, County Middlesex. He was High Sheriff of County Wilts in 1567 and his will was proven Feb. 4, 1580.

6 THOMAS LUDLOW, son of George and Edith (Windsor) Ludlow, was of Dinton and Baycliffe. He married Jane, daughter of Thomas and sister of Sir Gabriel Pyle, Knt. of Bapton, in the parish of Fisherton de la Mere. His will was proven in June 1608 and he was buried at Dinton, Nov. 25, 1707. Her will was proven July 6, 1650.

7 ROGER LUDLOW, son of Thomas and Jane (Pyle) Ludlow was baptized at Dinton, England, March 7, 1590 and married Mary, daughter of Philobert Cogan of Chard. On March 20, 1630 he embarked with Rev. Warham at Plymouth for New England, sailing in the ship Mary and John, which is mentioned as "Mr. Ludlow's vessel." They reached the New England coast May 30 and the captain landed the company on Nantasket Point, afterwards called Hull, to which they objected, stating he had agreed to take them up the river, but he left them there in the wilderness for which he was later fined in England. The "Old Planters" came to their rescue and furnished them with a boat and assisted in rowing them up the Charles River "until it grew narrow and shallow, where they landed and built a hut to shelter their goods at a place now called Watertown." Finding a shortage of spring water they removed to a neck of land called Mattapan and named the place Dorchester and here Roger Ludlow built his first rude house in the wilderness.

Before leaving England he was chosen an Assistant of the Massachusetts Bay Colony and as soon as he was settled entered upon the discharge of his official duties as a member of the Court of Assistants, a position he held for four years. In 1634 he was elected Deputy-Governor in place of Thomas Dudley, but becoming dissatisfied at not being made Governor, he removed to Connecticut, taking up his residence in Windsor as early as 1635. In March 1635/6 Connecticut was set apart as a separate colony with a Commission to govern the people there and one of the men named in it was Roger Ludlow. He built a stone house which was one of those "drowned very deep" in the flood of 1638/9. In 1642 he sold his property in Windsor to Rev. William Whiting of Hartford and removed to Fairfield, Ct. he having become greatly attracted by that place while he was serving in the Pequot War of 1637. His services to the Colony of Connecticut may be summed up as follows: Deputy-Governor, 1639, 1642, 1648; Magistrate, 1640, 1641, 1643–1647, 1649–1653; Commissioner of the United Colonies of Connecticut, 1648, 1651–1653. While his family in England were strong Episcopalians he seemed to be as strong a Puritan and in 1646 he was asked by the General Court to formulate laws for the Government of Connecticut. In 1650 they were completed and became known as Ludlow's Code and entered on the public records and were published at Cambridge in 1672. Prior to that, in 1638/9 he had framed the first Constitution in Connecticut in which civil franchise was not based upon church membership, which proved the liberality of his views.

He was the first Judge in Fairfield and its first military commander and the first lawyer in the state, but here too, he became greatly dissatisfied and had planned to remove to Yorktown, Virginia where his brother George was residing but there was trouble about the ship and he finally left the country in 1654 and took up his residence in Dublin, Ireland, where he followed his profession of law. His brother George in Virginia, made a codicil to his will, Oct. 23, 1655 in which he states that his brother Roger is living in Dublin and on Aug. 1, 1656, this will was proven in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, and Roger Ludlow the father of Jonathan, Joseph, Roger, Anne, Mary and Sarah Ludlow, who were the residuary legatees and all minors, was made administrator of his brother's estate in England.

On Sept. 15, 1664, he was appointed administrator of his brother John, who also died a bachelor in Virginia.

After Cromwell's death he removed to Hollyhead, an Island in County Anglesia, Wales, a parliamentary town of importance and the nearest British port to Dublin. Nothing further is known of him but he probably died in that place.

8 SARAH LUDLOW, daughter of Roger and Mary (Cogan) Ludlow, married probably in Dublin, Ireland, Rev. Nathaniel Brewster. They both died in Setauket, L. I. and are buried in the Presbyterian Churchyard.

See Brewster.

1 THOMAS MAPES in a deposition made Jan. 27, 1658, stated that he was about 30 years of age. He married before 1651, Sarah, born 1630, daughter of William Purrier. Her date of death has not been found but she was living in 1686. He died in 1687.

In 1652 he had a house lot in Southold, L. I., of about four acres bounded by the lands of William Purrier and Geoffrey Estes. He also later had a patent for a five hundred acre tract which extended from the Sound to Peconic Bay, which was his share in the "Occabauck Dividend" laid out by the town in 1661. For many years this was called Mapes Neck but it finally came into the hands of Richard Cox of Oyster Bay and became known as Cox's Neck. Thomas Mapes in 1655 had an interest in the settlement of Brookhaven and in 1663 assisted in its purchase. He was a surveyor and most of his life a Justice of the Peace and was frequently chosen to serve on committees and delegations to consult with officials of other towns.

2 JONATHAN MAPES, son of Thomas and Sarah (Purrier) Mapes was born in Southold, L. I. June 20, 1670 and married there March 17, 1696, Hester, daughter of Caleb and Abigail (Hallock) Horton. She died May 16, 1709 and in 1710/11 he married second, one Abigail, who died March 30, 1723/4 and he married third, in 1733, Mary Terry who died Nov. 4, 1754, aged 53 years and 11 months. He died in Southold Jan. 4, 1747 and was listed as Sargeant, but service has not been found.

3 CALEB MAPES, son of Jonathan and Hester (Horton) Mapes was born in Southold, L. I. after 1700 and married there April 28, 1726, Tabitha, daughter of John and Hannah Alibon. He died in Wading River, L. I. July 21, 1782.

4 ESTER MAPES, daughter of Caleb and Tabitha (Alibon) Mapes, married in Southold, L. I., Dec. 2, 1747, Paul Hulse, born 1718, died Feb. 7, 1799. She died before July 22, 1773, for on that date he married Mary Filer, widow.

1 SOLOMON McFARLAND is first noted in the History of Bristol and Bremen, Maine, when he was named among twenty-seven individuals residing at Pemaquid in the Spring of 1735. That he named his eldest son Walter suggests the thought, he may have been the son of Walter McFarland who in 1693 was among the Scotch-Irish tenants at Strabane, County Tyrone, Ireland, and whose descendants came to America. The son Walter was held in captivity by the Indians so long that he learned their language and after his release he became a very important interpreter. Solomon McFarland lived in the fort at Pemaquid and during an Indian attack on it, in mid-day, while the men were at work at a distance, he, fortunately was at home because of illness, but encouraged by him the women loaded one of the cannon and he, rising from his bed discharged it and killed one of the attacking party. During another Indian raid on July 19, 1745, his wife, (who is frequently mentioned but never named) was picking berries in a field a little distance from the fort, "when she saw an Indian partially concealed, scarcely a gun shot from her and she realized she should be seeking a place of safety but to run meant instant death, so she stepped slowly away for some distance and then began to run for her life. The Indian fired and she fell, the bullet merely grazing her shoulder, producing a slight wound, but she was now within range of the fort guns and the guards being aroused by the report of the Indian's piece, the Indian sought safety in flight."

In the summer of 1747 Solomon McFarland and his two sons Walter and George were at work on Johns Island, when they were attacked by the Indians. George was killed and Walter was made captive. When the latter returned to his home, his father could only recognize him by his voice, so completely had he become an Indian in appearance and manner.

Solomon McFarland served in the Revolutionary War as a private in Capt. Caleb Turner's Company, serving from June 10, 1776 until Dec. 7, 1776. The Company was stationed at Boothbay, Me. for defense of the sea coast. Roll, dated Bristol, Me. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolution, p. 484.)

The dates of his birth and death as well as the name of his wife have not been found, but could probably be ascertained by a search at Bristol, Me.

2 MARGARET McFARLAND, daughter of Solomon McFarland, married in Bristol, Me., Oct. 1, 1761, Jacob Dockendorf.

1 WILLIAM MULLINES, his wife Alice and two children, Joseph and Priscilla and a servant, Robert Carter, were passengers on the Mayflower as listed by Bradford in his history. Thirty years after the landing Bradford writes "Mr. Molines and his wife, his sone and his servant dyed the first winter. Only his daughter Priscilla survived and married John Alden, who are both living and have 11 children and their eldest daughter is married and hath five children."

In Baird's History of Huguenot Emigration to America he states "William Molines and his daughter Priscilla afterwards the wife of John Alden and Philip De la Noye and others remained in Leyden" referring to the emigration to Guiana. It is not generally believed that William Mullines and his wife Alice were French for after this they went to England and embarked in the Speedwell which sailed with the Mayflower but becoming unseaworthy was obliged to return and in the re-adjustment of the passengers they became members of the Mayflower band.

The maiden name of Alice Mullines is not known.

William Mullines made his will evidently at Plymouth, Mass. and died there March 3, 1621. It was proved at Dorking, County Surrey, England, which seems quite conclusive evidence that he must have been an Englishman. It was certified to April 2, 1621. The date of his death, Old Style, was Feb. 21, 1620/1.

His will reads as follows: "In the name of God, Amen: I comit my soule to God that gave it and my bodie to the earth from whence it came. Alsoe I give my goodes as followeth That fforty poundes in the hands of goodman Woodes I give my wife tenn poundes, my sonne Joseph tenn poundes, my daughter Priscilla tenn pounds and my eldest sonne tenn poundes. Alsoe I give to my eldest sonne all my debts, bonds, bills (onelye yt forty pounds excepted in the hands of goodman Wood) given as aforesaid with all the stock in his owne handes. To my eldest daughter I give tenn shillings to be paid out of my sonnes stock. Furthermore that goodes I have in Virginia (Plymouth then considered part of Va.) as followeth: To my wife Alice halfe my goodes ad to Joseph and Priscilla the other halfe equallie to be devided betweene them. Alsoe I have xxj dozen of shoes and thirteene paire of bootes wch I give into the Companies handes for forty pounds at seaven years and if they like them at that rate. If it be thought to deare as my Overseers shall thinck good. 1 GEORGE NORTON, with wife Mary was in Salem, Mass. in April 1629 and recommended to Capt. John Endicott as a carpenter "whom we pray you respect as he shall deserve." In 1634 he made a contract to build the church in Salem for one hundred pounds and on May 13, 1640 he signed a petition with other inhabitants of the town, to "erect a village at Jeffrey's Creek," now Manchester. He served as Deputy 10th of 3rd mo. 1643 also 8th of 7th mo. 1642. The maiden name of his wife is not known but in the will of Bethia Cartwright of Salem, dated 1640, it is indicated that Mary was her sister and that she had another sister, Elizabeth Capon who resided in Walderswick, Suffolk Co. England. Aug. 4, 1656, Lucie Downing of Salem, with consent of her husband Emanuel, leased George Norton, "sometime of Salem, carpenter," her farm, called "Groton" near the farm of the "Worshipful Jonathan Endicott," for ten years from March 1, 1656, for eighteen pounds a year to be paid in Indian corn, wheat, barley, pork, butter, cheese and cattle. He was to build a house, the chimney to be of brick and for it, he was to have one year's rent free.

The estate of George Norton of Salem was inventoried on the 22nd of 7th mo. 1659 and in it settlement the following children are named: Freegrace, 24 years; John, 22; Nathaniel, 20; George, 18; Mary, 16; Mehitable, 14; Sarah, 12; Hannah, 10; Abigail, 8 and Elizabeth, 5.

The records of 1665 show that the widow Mary, was then the wife of Philip Fowler. Articles tracing the ancestry of George Norton back to the nobility of England have appeared from time to time, but the compiler of these notes does not deem it advisable to use them.

2 NATHANIEL NORTON, son of George and Mary Norton was baptized in Salem, Mass., the 19th of 3rd mo. 1639 and probably married there, but the name of his wife Mary has not been found. The Vital Records of Salem are now being published and when the marriages are completed, they may give up the secret. (His marriage does not appear in them.) He was in Salem in 1662, working as a carpenter on the frame of a Meeting House which should have been ready in 1660. Nothing further has been found of him until 1668 when he appears on Long Island and purchased property of Capt. John Pratt in Brookhaven, paying for it in cattle. In 1669 he was engaged to build a new Meeting house in Brookhaven. The townspeople were to haul the timber and help raise it. For his services he was to be free from taxes for six years. On Sept. 17, 1674, the town gave him land near Mt. Misery and in 1676, he was elected Overseer of Brookhaven. His will was proven in 1685 by Thomas Helme and John Case. In it he mentions his wife Mary and his children, Isaac, Nathaniel, George, Jonathan, Mary, Sarah and Hannah. His executors were Timothy Brewster and Richard Woodhull.

3 GEORGE NORTON, son of Nathaniel and Mary Norton was probably born in Brookhaven, L. I. but no definite date has been found. The Long Island Traveler of Feb. 16, 1900, states that he married Mary, daughter of William and grand-daughter of Thomas Helme, but no evidence was found to sustain it.

4 TIMOTHY NORTON, son of George and Mary (Helme?) Norton was born in Brookhaven, L. I. date not known and married in Huntington, L. I. March 18, 1739/40, Sybil Briant. Their dates of death have not been found. The marriage record states he was of Brookhaven. Their children as far as known, were, George, Timothy, Elizabeth, Bryant, Jabez, Anna. Order not certain. He signed the Association in Brookhaven, June and July 1775 (Mather, p. 1060).

5 ANNA NORTON, daughter of Timothy and Sybil (Briant) Norton was born March 18, 1746 and died Aug. 27, 1818, the wife of David Davis, born May 6, 1737, died March 10, 1825, whom she married Jan. 19, 1763. In the diary kept by Ebenezer Miller of Miller's Place from 1762–1768 she is called "Ann" when he records her marriage.

1 EDWARD PETTY was born in 1633 and died at Southold, L. I. Sept. 13, 1697 leaving wife Mercy. He married first, Marey, born 1631, daughter of Rev. John Youngs. She died before May 15, 1671 when he gave his son James, aged 9 years to Thomas

Moore, Sr. and his son Joseph, aged 4 years to Nathaniel Moore, they to be brought up as their own children. July 4, 1687 he deeded his youngest son Joseph five acres of land lying in the East end of Southold. Mercy the second wife died in Southold, Sept. 25, 1727.

The Youngs Family book states she was Mary Salmon, but if so her ancestry is not known as William Salmon the first in Southold, died before 1665 and her death record shows that she was born in 1677. He left one son only, who did not marry until 1683.

Joseph Petty was Captain of a vessel, a farmer and commissioned Lieutenant of Militia Feb. 10, 1713. His children were: Daniel, John, Martha, Elizabeth, James, Mary and Hannah.

I. says she died Sept. 7, 1840, aged 86 years and 1 month. She married at Wading River, July 22, 1773, Caleb Mapes Hulse, born Sept. 22, 1748, died Jan. 1, 1810.

1 WILLIAM PONTUS was one of the Pilgrim party at Leyden, Holland, who did not embark with the first "comeovers." He was a "fustian worker" from Dover, England and married in Leyden, Dec. 4, 1610, Wybra Hanson. He was in Plymouth, Mass. as early as 1633 and a member of the court from 1636 to 1638 inclusive. He died there Feb. 4, 1652 but no mention of his wife in this country has been found. Book 1 of Deeds at Plymouth, page 312, show according to a statement of his grandson Samuel Delano, that he owned land in Middleboro, which was settled on his daughters Mary Delano and Hannah Churchill, said Samuel as heir of Mary Delano deeded the property to John Churchill, Jan. 1, 1693/4.

2 MARY PONTUS, daughter of William and Wybra (Hanson) Pontus was probably born in Leyden, Holland and came to Plymouth, Mass, with her father. She married in the latter place Oct. 31, 1645 James Glass, who died Feb. 9, 1653 and in 1657 she became the wife of Phillippe Delano, born 1602, died about 1681. In 1653, 1656 and 1661, he was Deputy from Southold, to the New Haven, Conn. General Court, Southold at that time being under its jurisdiction.

He made his will Dec. 13, 1671 which was proven May 13, 1676, in which he mentions his daughter Sarah Mapes. The approximate date of death of his wife Alice is not even known but as she is not mentioned in his will, indicates that she pre-deceased him.

In 1645 he was residing in Weymouth where he served as Constable in 1659. His will dated Jan. 18, 1680, proven July 25, 1682 mentions his wife Grace, maiden name not known and among his children his son William.

2 WILLIAM RICHARDS, son of William and Grace Richards was born in Weymouth, Mass. 2nd of 4th mo. 1658 and died intestate, April 24, 1683. He married Mary of whom nothing is known.

3 WILLIAM RICHARDS, son of William and Mary Richards, married in Boston, Mass. Jan. 23, 1706, Experience Drake and resided in Scituate near the Duxbury and Marshfield lines. 1 MOSES SIMMONS was born in Leyden, Holland bearing the Dutch name of Symonsen or Simonson. He came to the Plymouth Colony on the ship Fortune in 1621 and the name was early shortened to two syllables but in the Plymouth records is spelled in various ways but for many generations has been "Simmons."

In the division of land in 1623 he was allotted in Plymouth, one acre beyond the first brook. In the division of cattle in 1627, the first lot fell to him as he was of the Francis Cooke band. In 1637 he was of Duxbury where in 1638 he was given forty acres of land.

He was in 1654 one of the original proprietors of Bridgewater but sold his right there to Nicholas Byram of Weymouth. He was also one of the original proprietors of Old Dartmouth now New Bedford and in 1662 was one of the proprietors of Middleboro'.

Before coming to New England he married Sarah, whose maiden name is not known. His will dated June 17, 1689, proven Sept. 15, 1691 does not mention her, so it is fair to assume that she predeceased him. He names his children, making his son John executor.

2 JOHN SIMMONS, son of Moses and Sarah Simmons married in Duxbury, Mass., Nov. 16, 1669, Mercy, born Jan. 21, 1649, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Alden) Pabodie. The first notice of John in the Plymouth records is in 1666 when he and other young men were arrested and fined for abusive carriage towards each other at the Meeting House in Duxbury. He was Town Clerk of Duxbury in 1683 and some years prior to that time and also kept the ferry and a house of entertainment for travellers and strangers. In 1678 he was made Constable, a position given only to men of good standing in the community. He died intestate before Feb. 9, 1715/16 and his wife was appointed administratrix. Her will dated Sept. 26, 1728 was proven Nov. 8, 1728 but the exact date of her death has not been found.

She mentions her children as John, William, Isaac, Benjamin, Joseph, Joshua, Martha, Rebecca and Moses leaving Benjamin two hundred pounds and a share in the residue of her estate.

3 BENJAMIN SIMMONS, son of John and Mercy (Pabodie) Simmons, married first in Duxbury, Mass., Lora Sampson and second in the same town, July 7, 1715, Priscilla, born 1686, died Feb. 7, 1746/7, daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth (Standish) Delano. He was a Constable in Duxbury in 1732. The date of his death has not been found and it is possible he may have removed to Maine with his daughter Hannah.

4 HANNAH SIMMONS, daughter of Benjamin and Priscilla (Delano) Simmons, was born in Duxbury, Mass., June 16, 1718 and married in Pembroke, Mass., Sept. 7, 1738, William Richards. They died in Maine, probably Bristol, he in 1771 and she in 1780.

1 CAPTAIN MYLES STANDISH was born in England in 1584 and died at Roxbury, Mass., Oct. 3 or 13, 1656. He married first Rose whose parentage is not known but she came to New England with him on the Mayflower and died in Plymouth, Jan. 29, 1620/1 or according to the New Style, Feb. 8, 1621. He married second, Barbara whose parentage is also unknown but tradition states that she was a sister of his first wife. She came to New England on the ship Ann in 1623 and died Oct. 16, 1659.

A letter written by Mrs. Clarence L. Westcott and published in 1916 reads "I have visited in Lancashire, both Standish and Duxbury Hall, where the present owners have shown me much of historic family interest. Sir Henry Standish, the present proprietor of Standish Hall, married a daughter of the Duc de Cars and resides permanently in Paris. Duxbury Park has passed out of the family but in England, its title is not considered clear, while there are still living, lineal descendants of Myles Standish. I have been shown the much discussed parish records and have been given a photograph of the mutilated page. Standish Hall was the seat of the family before the Reformation which caused the split that settled the Protestant branch at Duxbury Hall. It was at Standish that the famous Lancashire plot was hatched and from Standish Hall went forth Ralph Standish to fight for Henry V. at Agincourt. The Hall has undergone some changes since the time of Queen Elizabeth but the old family chapel attached stands as it was and is still controlled by the Church of Rome, the present owner being a Roman Catholic. Four little sycamore trees have been sent to me direct from Standish Hall with the request that one should be placed by the grave of Capt. Myles Standish and this I shall have done when in 1920 the Tercentenary of the Pilgrims is to be observed."

Captain Myles Standish held a Commission from Queen Elizabeth, in the English Army before 1603 and served in the Netherlands against the Spaniards, and after the truce in that war he remained in Leyden, Holland, where he became acquainted with the Pilgrims and came to New England with them on the Mayflower and was the sixth signer of the Compact. He was the first commissioned Military Officer of New England as the Pilgrims made him Commander-in-Chief and that post he held until his death. He led the first exploring expedition from the Mayflower on Nov. 14, 1620. He was also Treasurer of the Plymouth Colony and as late as 1654 he was appointed Commander-in-Chief of troops sent to subdue the Dutch in Manhattan. As Military Commander he had more power than the Governor and as Captain and Magistrate, as Engineer and Explorer, as Interpreter and Merchant, as a tender nurse in pestilence, a physician at all times and as the Cincinnatus of his Colony, he showed wonderful versatility of talent and the highest nobility of character. It is very evident that the legal proof of his birth and descent has been destroyed to secure a fraudulent transfer of his inheritance, which is mentioned in his will.

He resided at Plymouth, Mass. until about 1630/32 when he removed to Duxbury, which town received its name out of respect for him as his ancestral family seat in the old country was Duxbury Hall, Duxbury, Lancashire, England.

He was an Assistant of Plymouth Colony in 1633, 1637 to 1642 and from 1645 to 1656 and Deputy Governor in 1653.

His will is dated March 7, 1655 at Duxbury and his inventory was presented to the Court at Plymouth by his widow Barbara, May 4, 1657. The last paragraph is one of interest, being: "I give unto my son and heir aparent, Alexander Standish, all my lands as heire apparrent by lawful descent in Ormistick Bousconge Wrightington Maudsley Newburrow Cranston and in the Isle of Man, and given to mee as right heire by lawful descent, but surreptitiously detained from me my great grandfather being a 2nd younger brother from the house of Standish of Standish."

The inventory of his estate is mainly of the usual sort of household utensils and land but of great interest is the list of his books, namely: The History of the World and the Turkish History; A Chronicle of England and the Country ffarmer; The History of Queen Elizabeth and the State of Europe; Dr. Hale's Workes; Calvin Institutions; Wilcox's Workes and Mayor's; Rogers' Seaven Treatices and the French Akademy; Ceser's Comentaryes; Bariff's Artillery; Preston's Sermons; Burroughe's Christ in Contentment; Gospel Conversion; Passions of the Mind; The phisisions practice; Earthly Mindedness; Ball of Faith, Brindey's Watch; Dod on the Lord's Supper; Sparke against Herisye; A Reply to Dr. Cotten on Baptism and others of the same class.

2 ALEXANDER STANDISH son of Myles and Barbara Standish was born at Plymouth about 1625 and died at Duxbury, Mass., July 6, 1702. He married Sarah Alden who died before Sept. 12, 1687, daughter of John and Priscilla (Mullines) Alden. He married twice after her death.

He was made freeman of Duxbury, June 7, 1648 and was a member of the Grand Inquest there in 1658 and from 1695 to 1700 was the Town Clerk.

3 ELIZABETH STANDISH, daughter of Alexander and Sarah (Alden) Standish, married about 1679 Samuel Delano who died in Duxbury in 1728.

1 WILLIAM WHITING was one of the original proprietors of Hartford, Ct., and had his home on the east side of what is now Governor Street. He had an interest in lands at Piscataqua which he retained until his death. He was one of the most efficient promotors of trade and commerce in Hartford and had dealings with Virginia and a trading house on the Delaware River and one at Westfield, Mass. In 1638 he was granted permission to deal with the Indians and in 1642 was appointed with Major Mason to erect fortifications, as protection against the Indians.

He was one of a committee who sat with the First Court of Magistrates in Connecticut in 1637 and was Treasurer of Connecticut 1641–1647; Magistrate 1641–1647; Commissioner of the United Colonies, 1646.

His will dated March 20, 1643 states that he is going on "a voyage presently unto sea." He returned safely for on July 24, 1647 he added a codicil and died shortly after. Several of his letters written in 1637 are preserved in the Connecticut State Archives and they are sealed with his arms which are similar to the Whiting family of Boston, but the connection has not been made. He married Susanna whose maiden name is not known. She in 1650 became the wife of Samuel Fitch of Hartford and at his death she married Alexander Bryan of Milford, Ct. and died at Middletown, Ct., July 8, 1673.

2 JOHN WHITING, son of William and Susanna Whiting was born in 1635 and graduated from Harvard College in 1653. After living there and at Salem he in 1660 located in Hartford, Ct., where he was ordained pastor of the First Church as colleague with Rev. Samuel Stone and after his death in 1664, with Rev. Joseph Haynes, but after many controversies he withdrew and on Feb. 12, 1670 organized the Second Church. He was preacher of the Connecticut Election Sermon in 1686 and Chaplain of Connecticut Troops in King Philip's War of 1675 and served as minister at Hartford until his death in 1689, his inventory being filed on Nov. 5 of that year. In the division of his estate it is recorded that his daughter "Sibbell Bryan was 34 years of age." He died Sept. 8, 1689 and his wife died in June 1672. He married second in 1673 Phebe, daughter of Thomas Gregson of New Haven, Ct.

3 SYBIL WHITING, daughter of John and Sibyl (Collins) Whiting was born in 1655 and married Alexander Bryan born 1651, who died in Milford, Ct., Aug. 19, 1701. 1 REV. CHRISTOPHER YOUNGS was "inducted into the living of Reyden and Southold, County Suffolk, Eng. Jan. 14, 1611 according to the Parish Register of the church in Southwold which commences in 1602 and part of which is in his copperplate handwriting, in which he spelled his name "Younges." He was probably the son of Christopher Younges, the elder of Colby, County Norfolk and grandson of Johan Youngs, sister of Christopher Horne. His will, as minister of Southwold, was proven July 5, 1626 in which he leaves his wife Margaret, maiden name not known, all his lands for life and mentions his six children, John, Joseph, Christopher, Mary, Margaret and Martha. The will of his wife Margaret is dated Oct. 27, 1630 and was proven, Jan. 8, 1630/1 in which she leaves her property to be divided among her children, named as above and names her sons John and Joseph as executors.

Rev. Christopher "Younges" was born in 1545 and was buried in the chancel of St. Edmund's Church at Southwold, Eng. where a small, much worn brass, 14⅞ by 5 inches may still be seen bearing the following inscription to his memory:

"Here Lyeth Interred y^{e} Body of Mr. Christopher Yonges Who Depted This Life y^{e} 14 Day of June Anno Domini, 1626.

A Good Man Full of Fayth was Hee
Here Preacher of Gods Word
And Manie by His Minestrie
Weare Added To The Lord" (Act. II, 24).

Southwold in England is 103 miles from London in the Hundred of Blything and County of Suffolk. The church there dates back to 1202 but the present edifice built of gray flint and freestone was erected in 1460 and dedicated to St. Edmund, King and Martyr.

2 REV. JOHN YOUNGS, son of Rev. Christopher and Margaret Youngs was born in England in 1598 and died in Southold, L. I. in Feb. 1671/2, aged 74 years. On his altar tomb in Southold, is the following inscription:

"Mr. John Yongs Minister of the Word and First Setler
Of the Church of Christ in Southold on Long Island
Deceased the 24 of February in the Yeare
Of our Lord 1671/2 and of his Age 74."

"Here Lies the Man Whose Doctrine Life Well Knowen
Did Shew He Sought Crists Honour Not His Owen
In Weaknes Sown in Power Raised Shall Be
By Christ from Death to Life Eternally"

Rev. John Youngs, married first in Southwold, Eng., July 25, 1622, Joan Herrington, widow, who died there about 1630. He married second, after March 30, 1630, Joan Harris widow of Richard Palgrave. She was born in 1603 and died in Salem, Mass. before 1639. He married third about 1639, Mary Gardner, (widow) and daughter of Thomas Warren of Southwold, Eng. whose will was proved Sept. 13, 1645 in which he mentions his daughter Mary, wife of John Youngs "now in New England."

On May 12, 1637 Rev. John Youngs made application for permission to take passage in the ship Mary Anne of Yarmouth for New England, which reads as follows:

"This man was forbyden passage by the Commissioners and went not from Yarmouth	John Yonges of St. Margetts, Suffolk, Minister, aged 35 years and Joan his wife aged 34 years, with 6 children, John, Thomas, Anne, Rachel, Marey and Joseph, desirous to passe for Salem in New England to inhabit"

Just how he reached Salem is not known but in less than three months from the above date he was received there as an inhabitant and granted land. He reached Southold, L. I. via New Haven, Ct. and founded in 1640 the First Church of Southold which was the first church on the east end of Long Island. The choicest parcels and most desirable locations of land were selected for him and his village lot was the largest and most advantageously situated. It lay near and in sight of the Town Creek and had a fine spring of water on its western edge. On this lot, which extended—on the Main Street—from the highway leading to the Town Creek, to the west side of the deep hollow west of the M. E. Church, he erected his home, near the spot occupied by the house of Henry G. Howell in 1882 and here he lived and died, filling the pulpit of the church from 1640 until death to the entire acceptance of the whole parish, which at that time extended from Wading River to Oysterponds. He died intestate and his widow Mary who survived him some six years, administered upon his estate and by her will dated 1678, disposed of it.

3 MAREY YOUNGS, daughter of Rev. John and Joan (Harris) Youngs was born in England. Her name on the immigration list has been transcribed as Marey. She married in Southold, L. I., Edward Petty who died Sept. 13, 1697, leaving a widow Mercy, who died Sept. 25, 1727. She died before May 15, 1671.
